Board Approves Changes In County Government Act

SALARY CUTS OF $54,972 WILL RESULT

New Schedule Agreed Upon After Conference With Edwards, Craig and Utt GOES TO LEGISLATURE

Salaries Ranging From $250 Up Will Be Slashed More Than Low Ones

EFFECTING A TOTAL annual saving of $54,972.22 in salaries of elective officers and court house employees whose salaries are fixed under the county government act, the board of supervisors, late Tuesday approved changes in the county government act to be presented at the current session of the state legislature.

The new schedule of salaries and other changes in the county government act were approved following conference of the supervisors with State Senator Nelson T. Edwards, and Assemblymen Ted Craig and James B. Utt.

The salary cuts included in the amendments to the county government act, added to the 10 per cent cut given appointive employees a week ago by the supervisors, which amounted to approximately $25,000 and a 10 per cent cut given the same group last July 1 brings the county payroll savings above the $100,000 mark.

The recommendations are incomplete as yet as they refer to the salaries of the livestock inspector and meat inspector for the county as attempts are being made to consolidate these two offices in the interest of economy.

In effecting the salary reductions the supervisors decided against attempting to equalize salaries and at the same time make reductions. In reaching this decision the board members said that they felt attempts to do otherwise would result in confusion. The following scale of reductions was adopted:

Salary Reductions
Salaries ranging from $250 monthly and up are slashed 20 per cent; salaries ranging from $150 to $249 will be cut 15 per cent; from $100 to $149 will be cut 10 per cent and employees receiving from $75 to $99 monthly will be reduced five per cent. Salaries under $75 will not be changed.

The act, as it now stands, makes reduction of 13.9 per cent or $41,712.72 in regular fixed salaries and $13,260 in maximum allowances per year for extra help in several departments, totalling $54,972.72 or 14.5 per cent.

In addition to the above savings, compensation for typists in the recorder's office is cut from five to four cents per folio making additional undetermined savings.

The county's share of the salaries paid superior court judges remains unchanged leaving the county to pay $3000 of the $6000 annual salary which is contemplated in a bill now before the legislature. The other half to be paid by the state.

The new county government also transfers the county fruit patrol from direction of the district attorney's office to the sheriff's office where it will remain as a separate entity known as the "farm detail." Members of the fruit patrol will be appointed by the supervisors with the approval of the sheriff and may be dismissed by either the supervisors or the sheriff.

Assembly Of League Will Meet Friday

Understood Japan Not to Sever All Relations; Fears Censure

GENEVA, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Battling desperately to maintain the same time escape world-wide censure, Japan will fail to sever all relations with the League of Nations when the league assembly adopts the report of the committee of nineteen tomorrow.

Bearing out previous International News Service dispatches from Geneva, this was revealed definitely today in the final instructions sent to Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese delegate, by the Tokyo government.

The instructions indicated Japan will not sever her connection with the non-political activities of the league, although she will withdraw from the political activities after the report of the committee of nineteen is adopted by the assembly.

The committee's report insists Chinese sovereignty over Manchuria be re-established, condemns Japan's military activities, and recommends withdrawal of Japanese troops to the South Manchurian railway zone. All of these points are unacceptable to Japan.

The Tokyo instructions advised Matsuoka how to proceed after the assembly votes to adopt the report and also provided him ammunition for his "final declaration" to the league assembly.

He was told to advise the league: "While a profound divergence exists between the league and Japan in regard to the Manchurian question, Japan will continue to cooperate with the league's other activities."

The adjutant general said that Gov. A. G. Schedeman wanted all pickets dispersed and normal conditions restored.

A truce, which will continue until May 1, was arranged partly at a conference between the governor and the dapper strike leader, Walter M. Singler, president of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool.

The governor promised that he would go before the Roosevelt administration to seek federal aid. He said he would attend the conference of governors at Washington called by President-elect Roosevelt.

The last act of violence reported before the truce became effective occurred at Mukwonago. More than 1000 strikers gathered at the Walter A. Harns garage. The strikers said Harns employees had used gas pipes to force their way through picket lines. The farmers forced Harns to run three trucks to the city limits, where 250 cans of milk were dumped.

Throughout the day until farmers at Madison voted in favor of a truce violence had been reported. At Waukesha county, firemen drove angry farmers away from the railroad station where they wanted to dump milk. Sympathizers forced the release of 83 farmers from the Dodge county jail after they had been arrested for throwing away milk at Mayville. Tear gas bombs were used at Juneau to force back a mob. A fire which destroyed the dairy of William Lefebvre at Hartland was of incendiary origin, fire marshals said, and they suspected pickets.

WORLD TOURS IN TWO HOURS FORECAST BY PROF. PICCARD

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Professor Auguste Piccard, famed Belgian scientist and conqueror of the Stratosphere, today predicted that within the next 25 years "world tours" would be made in two hours.

Accompanied by his twin brother, Jean, New York scientist, Professor Piccard is making a nation wide lecture tour.

"I think that within this generation we shall ascend into the stratosphere and fly around the world in two hours," he said. "The stratosphere will give us the swiftest means of physical communication." Asked whether he believed interplanetary flights in the near future possible, he said, "there must be more study of the stratosphere, new discoveries."

"Perhaps our children may fly to Mars or the moon, but we are not ready now," Professor Piccard admitted he had been seriously considering a startosphere flight in cuss his plans.

Says Enemy Fearful Of Disclosures

Returns After Illness and Charges Desk Ransacked During Absence

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 23.—(UP)—An incensed Governor Rolph today said he had been approached by a spokesman for the Inman senatorial investigation committee to call of the inquiry into the administration immediately.

The governor inferred that his opponents, principally the committee chairman, J. M. Inman, were fearful of disclosures that the administration proposed to bring before the committee.

"We told them to go on with their investigation," the governor said. "We have welcomed the inquiry from the start."

The governor, despite showing obvious effects of his illness, was in fighting trim. He charged that during his absence his desk here had been ransacked.

"I found it out this morning," he said. "No, it was nobody in my office force."

Governor Rolph bitterly attacked Senator Inman, the main spring of the investigation committee, and long a political enemy of Rolph.

"The little Caesar of state politics can dish it out, but he can't take it," he said.

The governor referred time and again to evidence that the administration proposed to introduce before the committee, allegedly involving Inman. He said this evidence would include photostatic copies of certain documents bearing Inman's signature.

Governor Rolph said he did not plan to appear before the committee to answer various charges against his administration.

"After I consider the evidence," he said, "I will make my answer direct to the legislature and the people of California."

Governor Rolph left this morning for San Francisco by airplane. There he planned to engage in an important conference with the state board of agriculture.

Repeatedly asked whether or not Dudley Moulton, director of agriculture, was to be removed from office, the governor replied: "I'm sorry but I cannot say anything about that until my return."

"The department of agriculture faces an investigation at the hands of the Inman committee on alleged maladministration of the tubercular cattle control system in Marin county. Late Tuesday Moulton suspended H. J. Gardner, official in charge of cattle indemnification work, pending an investigation. The Inman committee has subpoenaed him.

M'ADOO WOULD RID STATES OF BANKING POWER

Tells Business Men Favors All Banks Be Placed Under Government

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 23.—(UP)—A constitutional amendment to deprive all states of the power of creating and controlling banks is favored by William Gibbs M'Adoo, secretary of the treasury under President Wilson and Democratic senator-elect from California, he told a thousand Los Angeles business leaders last night at the annual chamber of commerce banquet.

"We have 48 different state banking systems and the federal banking system, which is the backbone. The federal system is more effective, but it has limitations."

"There isn't an intelligent man or woman who puts money into a bank who doesn't want to know that he or she can get it out."

"I favor a constitutional amendment that will deprive all states of the power of creating and controlling banks, and that will put a federal banking system into effect which will make every bank in the nation safe. I say that can be done."

"This national credit problem is so grave it will require prompt action. Perhaps it can be solved without this constitutional amendment."

"There is a possibility of wisely amending and completing the federal reserve act which was deprived of perfection by the coming of war."

Referring to the present senate investigation of securities, M'Adoo offered a criticism of business leaders when he said: "When we find great leaders of finance and business guilty before congress of practices that are unethical, I feel that it is necessary that you business men should adopt a policy of compulsory ethics. There are many buns in political life, I know. But there are also many fine splendid men in congress. I don't care how we got into this present dip. I'm interested in getting out of it."

M'Adoo urged his hearers to "cease offering generalizations" and meet him with concrete suggestions for economic betterment.

600 CHINESE ARE KILLED IN SKIRMISH

Fresh Troops Brought Up to Front Line Preparatory for Drive on City

FIGHTING IS INTENSE

Preparations Are Launched to Evacuate Women and Children From Sector

BULLETIN
NANKING, China, Feb. 24.—(Friday)—(UP)—China received a Japanese ultimatum demanding withdrawal of Chinese forces from Jehol within 24 hours and immediately replied today that any aggressive action would be resisted.

BULLETIN
TIENTSIN, China, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Preparations were launched today to evacuate Japanese women and children from the Peiping and Tientsin area in the fear the Jehol fighting will spread to north China.

Numerous Japanese residents of Peiping have arrived here by train and taken refuge in the Japanese concession pending their return to Japan. Arrangements are being made to take the refugees to the homeland aboard heavily convoyed steamers.

PEIPING, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Japan mobilized new reinforcements along the entire Jehol province battle front today, following a fierce skirmish in which 600 Chinese and Japanese troops were killed and wounded.

Determined to sweep toward Jehol city, the Japanese brought fresh troops to the front line, but-tressing them with Manchukuo forces and newly organized Mongol cavalry detachments.

Chinese reports said the Chinese defenders of Jehol were still holding Nanling against Japanese assaults, in which airplanes played a spectacular role.

General Tang Fu-Ting, commanding the first Chinese defense line in Jehol, which extends from Kailu to Chaoyang, reported the Chinese were still in full control of the area beyond the Peipiao railway, in a telephone conversation with Chinese headquarters here.

The Japanese will soon be forced to confine their operations to the Peipiao railway zone alone, predicted.

Massing of the Japanese, Manchukuo and Mongol units, he said, was proceeding day and night, as the enemy prepared on a large scale for the drive to capture Jehol City, capital of the province, and annex the entire territory to Manchukuo.

With fighting growing more intense along the Jehol border, Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, military commander in north China, continued.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:
BEVERLY HILLS, Feb. 23. (To the Editor of The Register.) Well, for breakfast we got three new Cabinet officers. Cordell Hull, a mighty fine, able man. Ever since I been going to political conventions, no matter who the rest of the world nominated, Jefferson, Jackson, Wilson, Smith or Roosevelt, Tennessee went for Cordell Hull. Their loyalty has been rewarded. Secretary of State is quite a chore in these times. This fellow Woodin that has inherited the deficit, I don't know him but I, along with everybody, rush to offer him condolence. Accepting receivership of the U. S. is also no small chore. Swanson for the navy post is ideal. He did inherit a navy if Congress don't kill it with no appropriations. Yours, WILL ROGERS.

JOHN R. FELL FITS ASSERTS IS KILLED IN JURY MAY TAKE BATAVIA HOTEL UP BERN DEATH

Prominent Paris Banker and N. Y. Society Leader Mysteriously Dies

BATAVIA, Java, Feb. 23.—(INS)—John R. Fell, Paris banker and prominent in Paris, New York and Philadelphia social circles, was found dead with a table knife in his heart in his hotel at Solo, Eastern Java, authorities revealed today.

Discovery of the body was made by the banker's guide, officials disclosed.

Fell and his wife had been in the Dutch East Indies since early this month, police said, having arrived from Paris. An immediate investigation was launched.

During the greater part of their stay in Java, Mr. and Mrs. Fell had made their headquarters at the hotel in Solo. Yesterday, after drinking a glass of beer, Fell went to his rooms with his wife, police declared.

Later, his guide, who had intended paying Fell a visit, was shocked to find him dead with the knife plunged into his chest.

Mrs. Fell, authorities said, was desperate and unable to give any information shedding light on the death.

Mrs. Casady, the former Miss Veora Daniels, Des Moines, beauty and film star, has sat for several days inside the front door of the Wilshire National Bank. Her former husband, Wayne Casady, cashier of the bank, owes her $3,242 back alimony, Mrs. Casady said, and announced her plans to sit in the bank until he pays.

The bank decided she was a nuisance in the legal manner, and applied for an injunction to put an end to her campaign.

Superior Judge Emmett H. Wilson will rule tomorrow on the point.

Santa Ana Entered In Traffic Safety Campaign

COOPERATION IS REQUESTED BY POLICE HEAD

A strenuous local campaign to combat traffic accidents with resultant injuries was assured today when Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard announced that Santa Ana would compete with several hundred other American cities in the second National Traffic Safety contest.

Santa Ana is officially in the contest to win the title of "America's Safest City," according to Mayor Paul Witmer, who signed the application to enter the contest and who announced the appointment of R. G. Cartwright as chairman of the safety committee.

Cartwright will be assisted in his work by other members of the Kiwanis club safety committee, including H. G. Nelson and Dr. Emmett Raitt.

Cartwright and Chief Howard, however, will be in charge of all details of the contest and will act as liaison men between Santa Ana and campaign directors in Chicago.

All efforts will center on holding the motor vehicle death rate down to a minimum and reducing it from the average of the past three years. These items—the year's death rate and the reduction over previous records—count for 50 out of the total 110 points in the grading schedule.

To accomplish this reduction, city officials will strive to increase the quality of traffic engineering and to place law enforcement on a higher plane. A maximum grade of 35 points may be won by the city if these activities are thoroughly successful. Accident reports are to be submitted each month to the contest committee.

Asks Cooperation
A plea for the cooperation of every Santa Ana citizen in helping

RIOTS BREAK OUT AT SHERIFF'S SALE

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Rioting broke out at the city and county building here today when the sheriff's office attempted to conduct an auction of six Salt Lake homes to satisfy mortgage foreclosures.

ing the city win the contest was voiced by Chief Howard.

"We cannot possibly make a showing through the efforts of a few men alone," he said. "We will make every effort to hold up our end and I know we can count on all civic organizations to do their part."

"The reduction of traffic accidents, however, is the duty and responsibility of every man, woman and child in Santa Ana. One thoughtless or careless act on the part of a driver or a pedestrian may ruin an otherwise perfect record. A vast majority of our citizens are careful and law-abiding but a few drive in such a way that they are likely to cause an accident at any time. These few will jeopardize our chances of winning this great contest unless, as I hope, they change their driving habits as a matter of civic duty."

FITTS ASSERTS JURY MAY TAKE UP BERN DEATH

found that Bern killed himself. The jurors conferred with District Attorney Byron Fitts and suggested that further action be taken.

"If information should be disclosed warranting a re-opening of the Bern case, such action will be taken," Fitts said.

Attorneys for Miss Harlow said she would be glad to testify at a new inquiry if and when called.

Widenham and Lawton asked to see a cryptic note Bern left for Miss Harlow in their palatial canyon home where he was found shot through the head last September while Miss Harlow was at the home of her mother.

While the first investigation was being conducted here Dorothy Millette, who had resided at a hotel in San Francisco, was revealed as Bern's "phantom wife" in years gone by.

After her name was disclosed by Paul Bern's brother, Henry Bern, Miss Millette committed suicide by jumping from a steamer into the Sacramento river.

Henry Bern was reported to have conferred recently with members of the grand jury here and to have informed them that he was not satisfied his brother committed suicide.

Juryman Widenham was said to have made a recent mystery trip to San Francisco in connection with the case. Results of his private inquiries are to be presented to his fellow jurors.

AVIATOR SUES TWO LA HABRA RAILWAY LINE WOMEN NAMED FOR $50,000 TO SHARE FUND

Flaming the Pacific Electric railway for injuries received when he fell over a bundle of newspapers and magazines as he alighted from a car at Balboa, Olin S. Rose, aviator, has filed suit against the railroad company for judgment of $50,000.

According to Rose he was injured April 26, 1932, after he had assisted a guest of his to board a Pacific Electric car standing by the loading walk at the intersection of Main and Center streets at the beach city.

He alleged that he had assisted the guest aboard the waiting car and after disposing of her luggage left the car. Agents of the railway, he alleges, had carelessly thrown a bundle of newspapers and magazines to the platform in front of the car steps. Rose, according to his complaint, stepped upon the bundle and fell to the street twisting his ankle and straining the ligaments.

He alleges that because of his injury he was confined to his bed for two weeks and forced to use a crutch or cane while walking for another four weeks. The ankle, according to his allegation, will always be weakened and interferes with his business as a commercial airplane pilot making it impossible to engage in certain types of remunerative flying. He alleges that he could not work for three months and that it is his belief that it will be impossible for him to again fly a plane for an indefinite period.

Listing an estate as real and personal property valued in excess of $10,000 Fred G. Smith, of Los Angeles, has filed a petition in superior court for probate of the will of Mrs. Lola Baldwin, of La Habra, who died February 13, 1934. Smith was named executor of the estate under the will.

In her will Mrs. Baldwin provided that each of her four daughters, Mrs. Lillian Watts Brown, Walnut Park; Mrs. Imogene Weaver, La Habra; Mrs. Banielyn Klein, Yreka; and Mrs. Catherine Klein, La Habra, is to receive $7,500.

The residue of the estate is to go to Smith to be held in trust and ordering him to pay one-quarter to Mrs. Brown, another quarter to Imogene Weaver. One-eighth of the income to Banielyn Klein and one-eighth to Mrs. Catherine Klein. These payments are to be made at least four times each year.

Four of Mrs. Baldwin's grandchildren, Joseph, Catherine, Lola, and Gretchen Klein are to receive the income from one thirty-second of the trust and Daniel and Doris Klein, also grandchildren of the deceased are to receive the income from one-sixteenth, each, of the trust. The bequests to the grandchildren, according to the will are for the specific purpose of their support and education.

Ten years after the death of Mrs. Baldwin the share of the estate held in trust for the daughters is to be distributed to them in the same proportions that they received the income. The trust is to continue for the grandchildren until they reach the age of 21 years being cancelled as each child reaches maturity. At the age of 25 they are to receive their share of the principal of the trust.

NAME GUARDIAN FOR SURVIVOR OF GUN TRAGEDY

Petition of L. K. Stamps, of Downey, to be appointed guardian of his orphaned grandson, Vernon Blythe, Santa Ana boy, was granted Tuesday in a court order signed by Superior Judge G. K. Seovel.

The Blythe boy was orphaned on Valentine day when his father shot and killed his mother, his younger brother, Robert, and then turned the gun upon himself and took his own life.

The tragic double murder and suicide occurred at the Gallatin school in Downey where Mrs. Blythe was entering her younger son Robert as a student following separation from her husband, Dr. Vernon Blythe, well-known Santa Ana dentist, and filing of divorce proceedings. Young Vernon Blythe narrowly escaped death when he fled while his father was turning the school room into a shambles. His father fired several shots at Vernon as he fled down the street.

Mrs. Blythe had filed suit for divorce from her husband February 13 and the papers were served on her husband on Valentine day. He went to the Frances Willard school here, where his elder son Vernon was a student, had him excused and took him to Downey to "see Robert and mother," where he had planned to wipe out the entire family.

Police today were seeking a smooth talking woman, 40 years old, who after posing as a prospective buyer of property here and renting a room from Mrs. H. H. Maryatt, of 331 East Chestnut street, "buncoed" her out of $125 in cash and a bed quilt worth $40, according to a police report.

The woman came to the home of Mrs. Maryatt several days ago and rented the room. She said she had a "grandmother in Long Beach who had just sold her property and wanted to buy property in Santa Ana." She talked about buying the Maryatt home.

After staying there for several days, she told Mrs. Maryatt that she was about to lose her automobile and needed $125. Mrs. Maryatt got the money for her and took her note for it. The note disappeared together with the money, police were told, and the woman also took the quilt when she disappeared. The quilt was one Mrs. Maryatt had made during the Civil war.

WEST WINDS Saints Meet Fresh In Track Opener

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Santa Ana's first "boxing war" since Boyd Ellis and H. T. Foust engaged in their celebrated struggle for promotional supremacy is imminent here.

Unimpressed by guarded statements that the Orange County Athletic club has been in the autumn for 12 of its 15 shows since reopening Nov. 15, Santa Ana American Legionnaires pose to open as soon as possible an arena in competition with the Sampson-Mexico partnership.

According to their survey of the situation, the Delphi club has made more than it has lost, and that $135, usually enough to net a substantial profit, has been its average weekly gross "take."

The Veterans hope to tie up with other Legion posts, devote 10 per cent of the earnings to the Orange County Veterans' Welfare fund. They have not announced who will foot the bill if their programs fail to prosper.

Equipped with a first class and nearby arena, and the benefit of patronage, the Sampson-Mexico entry will be strong enough to give the Legion a battle. Developments will be watched with interest.

Don Johnson, the rangy Laguna Beach youngster who is scheduled to play regularly in the Santa Ana infield during the Pacific Coast league baseball race, started the 1933 season none too propitiously.

He sprained his ankle running after a ball while working out near his home in the morning, and he has been out of the game for several weeks. The injury is sure to handicap him during the early days of the training season at Santa Cruz, where he'll report March 6.

"Dink" Templeton, the man who revolutionized the art of short-putting, has come up with another sensational weight man at Santa Ana. There is something uncanny in the fellow's ability to develop, just as there seems to be in the skill of Southern California's Dean Cromwell at bringing the best out of his sprinters.

Templeton's newest protégé is a chap named Gordon Dunn, called "Slingshot." Hitherto unknown Dunn has worked up from 45 feet to 50-10 already this year.

The first first switch tosser "Dink" had was Glenn Hartman of Fullerton, an awkward giant who could do no better than 42 feet as a freshman. Templeton is always trying something, and one day he had Hartman "flip" rather than "throw" the shot, employing the fingers for most of the work. Hartman's system changed completely the method of putting the shot. The Fullerton boy started a line of Stanford shot putters that has been virtually unbeatable in the past decade: Hoffman, Krenz, Rothert, Lyman, Gray.

Pity the plight of poor old Mike Morrow, San Diego Hi's baseball coach!

The Hillers are defending champions of the conference and also Southern California preponderance, and poor old Mike retains only ten lettersmen to fill the nine places on his club. Right field is the only spot that won't be occupied by a returning regular.

One of the most attractive races of the Orange Empire conference track season will come April 22 when Santa Ana's Fred Brooks

WEBBER'S MEN UNTESTED BUT PICKED TO WIN

Tested only through its annual interschool meet, Santa Ana Hi's 1933 track talent competes with its first outside opponent at Claremont tomorrow when Coach "Chuck" Webber's Saints vie with the Pomona college freshmen in a non-conference dual meet scheduled for 3:30 o'clock.

On paper the Saints appear strong in most of their events, and have been conceded better than an even chance to win because both Ray Cartwright, sensational half-mile runner in 1:56.6 last season, and Lucian Wilson, speedy hurdler, will compete for them. Although both men are post-graduates and will not be eligible for league meets, Coach Webber intends to use them in all practice engagements. Any points they earn against Pomona will be counted.

Winner of the All-Coast League event at 6 feet last year, Captain Floyd Montgomery has temporarily given up high-jumping in favor of the broad jump and pole vault, two events he will enter tomorrow.

"Flying Floyd" has greater possibilities in the broad jump, Coach Webber believes, and has been removed from the cross-bar event without weakening the Saints, who have Bob Reif, a sophomore, and Don Boyd, senior, already clearing 5-8.

Bruce Swishelm and Major Anderson, sprinters, should place high in the 100 and 220. They also will team with Montgomery and Walt King in the 880-yard relay.

Art Stranake is favored to win the shot and discus, while Walt Hendrie and King should give Post-Graduate Wilson a good race in both hurdles. Montgomery will run the loo.

Coach Eugene Nixon of Pomona intends to use a novice team as well as his freshmen against the Saints, so in reality the meet will be a triangular affair. Best of the Sagehen babes are Alan Cranston

Los Altos, a 10.1 sprinter and a 51.1 quarter-mile, Atkinson, 48-foot shot putter, Hal Ryerson, 21.3 broad-jumper, and Charles Shelton, 440-man from Glendora.

The Ghosts, a honorary upper-classmen's organization, will dine the Saints squad tomorrow night. Santa Ana entries:

100-yard dash—Swishelm, Anderson and Ramsdell.

220-yard dash—Swishelm, Anderson and Ramsdell.

DISSATISFIED

There is a depression, all right, but George Blaeholder of Garden Grove, doesn't believe he's responsible for it. He's a pitcher for the St. Louis Browns who asked him to take a drastic reduction in salary this season. Blaeholder (below) has demurred.

—Courtesy, The Sporting News.

BLAEOHOLDER OF BROWNS SHUNS BIG PAY SLASH

While not exactly a holdout, George Blaeholder of the St. Louis Browns asked his club to "reconsider" the drastic salary reduction provided in the first 1933 contract mailed to his home at Garden Grove.

The big pitcher, an "iron man" last year and the second most effective moundman on the Browns' staff, was cut from $7500 to less than $5000, according to reports.

In common with all other ball players, Blaeholder was prepared to accept less money for his services this season but he didn't expect to be "doctored" 40 per cent.

The Browns are having trouble with all their players. Reports from St. Louis indicate that only six have signed to date.

SIR MALCOLM CORBETT BEATS TELLS NARROW GAME FIELDS. DEATH ESCAPE ANNEXES TITLE

By HENRY MCLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 23.—(UP)—Though thoroughly dissatisfied with the new world's speed record of 272.108 miles an hour he established yesterday in the maddest, most breath-taking ride Daytona's speedway has seen, Sir Malcolm Campbell will not try to improve the mark this year.

Any running he does before he returns to England on the Aquitania March 2, will be from a standing start. And he isn't at all sure he will take a shot even at this comparatively tame record of 160.7 M. P. H., which is now held by a countryman, Kaye Don.

"Whether I run any more depends on how my injured wrist comes around, how the car shapes up after a thorough inspection, and how the beach looks the next few days," the British driving ace said today.

New Dash Would Ruin Car "Naturally, I would like to try to raise the mark I made yesterday, but with the racing strip as it is, I'd be foolish. I wouldn't have a hope of improving it by more than a few miles, and I'd ruin the greatest car in the world. Another trip over that beach as it now stands and Bluebird, stout old girl that she is, would be shaken to pieces."

Campbell, who in the past has minimized the hazards of a high speed run, today continued to talk of the horrors of the run that saw him smash his own record by better than 18 miles an hour.

Was there ever a time during the run when he thought death was imminent?

"Definitely, yes. Did you see me just after I passed the measured mile on the beach? That was the time, by Harry, when I shot blindly out of a patch of iris and found myself a scant ten feet from the flags along the water's edge, and shooting straight toward the surf."

"A Nasty Moment" "There wasn't but one thing to do, so I hooked her over. And in hooking her over I shot straight toward the dunes. So there I was, my goggles bouncing up and down over my eyes, my nose and mouth choked with sand and burning fumes, at a speed of 155 yards per second, toward the soft sand which would kill me like that. It was a damnedly nasty moment. But somehow I got out of it."

Campbell's tires bore mute testimony to the wildness of that ride. He insisted that in the garage today, and they looked as if some one had shot them with a full load of buckshot. There wasn't a whole spot on the entire running surface and in many places chunks of the rubber had been ripped off.

Campbell expressed the opinion that the unfavorable weather and poor visibility cost him at least a full second. If this is true, he would have made the almost unbelievable time of 300 miles over a perfect beach.

We asked Campbell, now in his 48th year, if he would make another try in 1934.

"I would like nothing better," he answered. "And I think old Bluebird would like another chance—no when conditions are right."

Time after time the challenger cracked Fields squarely on the jaw or the body, rocking him like a storm-beaten tree. But Fields stayed on his feet.

The husky Fresno boxer had too much strength at all times for Fields. He whirled the champion around in the clinches and held him off with one hand and beat him with the other.

Fields' knees sagged round after round from the beating he took, but he was boring in, even at the finish, always trying.

The champion was clearly outclassed, but not outgamed.

CORBETT BEATS TELLS NARROW GAME FIELDS. DEATH ESCAPE ANNEXES TITLE

By RALPH B. JORDAN (I.N.S. Sports Writer)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Stocky, dark-browed Young Corbett, of Fresno, Calif., trod a hard path to the welterweight championship, but when the big opportunity came he was master of all he surveyed.

The southpaw rested here today with the crowd perched securely on his brow, while Jackie Fields, the slender Los Angeles boxer, mourned the beating he took in a 10-round bout yesterday, which marked the passing of the title.

Corbett whipped Fields in convincing fashion, repeating the decision he took over the Southern California three years ago, only more so.

It was the end of a long trail for Corbett, a two-fisted, 27-year-old fighter, born in Italy, but reared in the sunny San Joaquin valley of Central California.

Return Match Talked Corbett, fighting for eight years, has beaten another champion, besides Fields. He took the measure of the younger man in a 10-round bout yesterday.

TOTAL RECEIPTS $56,000. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—(INS)—The state athletic commission announced today 16,000 fight fans paid $55,000 to watch the title bout at Seals' stadium yesterday between Young Corbett and Jackie Fields.

The receipts were divided: Fields $35,000; Corbett, $3850.

Expenses $6500. Promoter Ancil Hoffman $4250.

State and federal taxes $6500.

ure of Young Jack Thompson, Oakland negro, in a non-title bout here in San Francisco. But he had a long wait at the crown.

There was much talk here today of a return match between Corbett and Fields, or a bout between the new champion and Jimmy McLarnin, the "Belfast Spider," but there was nothing definite as yet.

Corbett left no doubt as to his mastery of Fields, although there was a lot of suspicion among ring-siders that Fields could not see as he might. He didn't seem to be able to get out of the way of the crushing blow at him, and he limited his efforts to getting in close to Corbett, when he pounded the Fresno fighter about the body.

Champion Game To End Fields dropped seven of the ten rounds by wide margins. His jaw was a target for the heavy blows of Corbett, but he never backed up; always came forward. He was a champion game in defeat. He backed Corbett about the ring, but took a bad beating. He didn't seem to be able to see the blows coming at him, although he claimed before the fight that his eyes were absolutely all right.

FLOYD VAUGHAN OF PIRATES BECOMES DADDY

FULLERTON, Feb. 23.—

Not satisfied with having a famous father, the baby daughter of Floyd Vaughan, star young shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, chose the anniversary of George Washington's birth for her birthday. She arrived yesterday at Fullerton General hospital.

The name chosen for the new member of the family is Patricia Bernice. She and the mother are both doing nicely.

Vaughan expects to enter training March 1 at Paso Robles. He signed again this year at a 100 per cent salary increase.

Mrs. Vaughan will join her husband when he goes East for the opening of the National league season.

Los Angeles, Feb. 23.—(UP)—Jim London, a claimant to the world's heavyweight wrestling title, was too rough for Old Shikina, Japanese exponent of jiu-jitsu last night, and knocked his rival unconscious 16 minutes and 23 seconds after they tangled as catch-as-catch-can artists.

Previously London and Shikina had wandered around the ring for 20 minutes attempting to toss each other by the jiu-jitsu process. This fall was called a draw.

London took no chances when the modus operandi was switched. He completed a series of body slams that weakened the Japanese.

And finally tossed his 201-pound bulk across Shikina's head. Every conscious, Shikina was packed from the ring by four men.

CHEAP SECTION SEATS REFUSED FANS. CHARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—

(UP)—Riotous scenes enacted outside the gates of Seals' stadium were recounted today as thousands of fans who were refused admittance to the Corbett-Fields championship fight protested the manner in which the outdoor show was handled.

Young Corbett, new world's welterweight champion, received only $3750 for his 10-round victory over Jackie Fields. His "take" probably would have been greater had 7000 howling fans been permitted to purchase cheap seats.

Corbett fought on a percentage basis, half of every ticket sale, $41,500, and his manager saw his share dwindle as thousands of infuriated fans milled about the gates, unable to enter.

Trouble started when would-be spectators protested an alleged "holdup" by the management. They claimed the sale of $1.15 tickets was stopped when only two-thirds had been purchased, and that the management informed them they would have to buy $2.45 seats, thousands of which were empty.

Many who purchased $1.15 seats early in the day said they were denied entrance; were informed they would have to exchange them for more expensive seats.

The mob broke out of control, roaring its indignation. It jammed about the pass gates and some 500 fought their way into the stadium. A center field fence was torn down and other sections of the barrier threatened. Several automobiles in the path of the rush were damaged badly.

Ancil Hoffman and Alfred Putnam were promoters of the fight. Larry White, manager of Corbett, charged up to them at the ringside, shouting "You're Corbett is holding the sack. There are thousands out there trying to get in. Cut the price of the $3.45 section and let them in."

Hoffman agreed to sell $3.45 seats for $2.20, and this announcement was greeted with boos and another rush to the gates. There remained about 2000 empty seats in the $1.15 section.

When the championship fight started, the $2.45 section showed big gaps, and a large part of the $1.15 section remained empty while thousands continued to howl for admission.

Hoffman and Putnam announced, after the fight, that holders of tickets who were denied entrance would be refunded their money today.

Seattle, Feb. 23.—Seattle's pitching staff was just about set for the season today with the addition of Truett Sewell, 185-pound right-hander, turned over to the Indians on option by the Detroit Tigers. Sewell was with Toronto and Beaumont last year. He uses an underhand delivery.

The regulars counted upon this season are Rudy Kallio, Hal Hald and "Junk" Walters among the right-handers and Southpaws Phil Page and Dick Freitas. George Caster, former Mission and Los Angeles hurler, is also on the roster. There is a chance that John Millus, veteran Serbian pitcher, who has

PLAN PROGRAM OF EDUCATION AGAINST EVILS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 23.—(UP)—An aggressive program combatting the evils of intemperance and narcotic addiction through public school education is to be undertaken in California, according to Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today.

Recognition that neither the home nor the existing social order extend the necessary influences, require the use of education regarding alcoholic beverages and habit-forming drugs, Kersey claims.

The three-point program was outlined as follows:

(1) Scientific preparation of teachers to instruct pupils on the uses and abuses of alcoholic beverages and the inescapable evils of narcotics.

(2) Preparation of teachers to help children in analyzing their own individual problems arising from current or changing conditions in the home, the social group or in community life.

(3) Extension of a program of individual pupil guidance so that children vocationally prepared will not be shovelled on an overcrowded labor market and so that each will have a clear picture of his proper earning power and relationship to the social order.

"The state, particularly educators, must anticipate results a quarter of a century hence, of repeal of the state prohibition law and probable modification of the Volstead law and eventual repeal of the eighteenth amendment," Kersey said.

"Even the most ardent advocates of repeal want control and this control can best be accomplished by honest and candid education regarding alcoholic beverages."

INVESTIGATION
Hitler heads the German government today for reasons which American politics could scarcely equal. Private despatches from official sources have clarified his sudden rise.

An investigating committee of the Reichstag (landed gentry) on to a bad spot. The Centrum party was directing affairs with more definite results than our senate committee has secured. A national scandal was uncovered. Disgrace for old names and aid for the communists loomed.

Millions of marks had been poured through the Ostfries (eastern relief action) into the unprofitable and poorly managed estates of the Prussian Junkers. Information was secured by the committee proving that much of the money had gone into high living and gambling instead of the designated agricultural purposes.

Defenses were riddled, and in desperation his long-time friends and neighbors appealed to President Hindenburg to save them—and "the national interests."

After the old general had been persuaded that the affair should be left to him, he called Von Schleicher to conference. The latter advised that only by a dissolution of the Reichstag could the scandal be stopped, and he refused to force dissolution for such a reason.

Thereupon Hindenburg was told by the Junkers that Von Schleicher had given the committee the damning evidence. The president believed the tale, dismissed Von Schleicher and sent for Hitler.

Three days later the Reichstag was dissolved, the danger was over and the Brown Shirts had been raised as though from the dead. Until March 5—election day—Hitler rides high. Afterwards? The voters will decide that.

SOLDIERS

Expert opinion in this country has predicted that for some time to come German campaigns for revision of the Versailles treaty will be waged at Geneva and through the press. It has been thought that when these means are exhausted the campaign will pass into hands of soldiers. On high authority, the plan is believed East:

To have been as follows in the General von Hammerstein was to be head of army direction of the Reichswehr. Germany was to attack Poland from the west, simultaneously with a Russian attack from the east. The German frontier fortresses destroyed by the ambassadors' conference were to be equipped to prevent a Polish counter-attack. They lack nothing now but the heavy guns, for which emplacements are ready. The guns are in existence and can be mounted within 72 hours or less.

Hitler's drive against the communists has invalidated the plan while he lasts. His policies are anti-Soviet to the extreme. Moscow and Berlin have less in common at present than Berlin and Paris. Von Papen's trade agreements with France may keep the soldiers in reserve, where the industrialists believe they should be.

SUCCESSION

Close students of German politics forecast the possibility of General von Seeckt's succeeding to the presidency on Hindenburg's death. Von Seeckt, who created the Reichswehr, is said to have vision and political instinct to a high degree. He is described by Germans as a specialist of the first rank, an intellectual soldier and a political philosopher.

PRECAUTIONS

The preparation in Berlin of instructions to German embassies and consulates abroad regarding their relations to the press in the countries to which they are accredited shows clear foresight.

After March 5 German representatives are to deny any unfavorable news items emanating from Germany. If certain occurrences cannot be denied or foreseen protests are voiced—for instance, in case of antisemitic activities—a stereotyped statement is to be made to the effect that "the German government regrets exceedingly the unfortunate occurrence and disapproves of it thoroughly. The perpetrators will be severely punished." And that will be that.

These instructions are to be put in the hands of German officials here within the next few days.

LIFESAVERS

There is a poster in front of the Prussian Diet building: "Federal Association of Recipients of the Lifesaving Medal. Centenary celebration of the creation of the Prussian lifesaving medals. Exhibition of lifesaving medals of all nations."

Honorary committee: Crown Prince Wilhelm, General von Schleicher.

FORESIGHT

A syndicate of prominent English industrialists authorized to act for a number of Britishers who transferred their money to the United States when Great Britain went off the gold standard are looking for investment opportunities in this country. Deals have been closed to acquire a large chemical concern in Florida and one of the most modern metal plants in Massachusetts. Other bargains are in negotiation. There is no tendency to hurry. The picking within the next few months is believed to be most promising.

CELEBRATION

Dinner at the White House following inauguration will be limited to two generations only: the President's and his mother's. The Roosevelt family is so numerous that restriction was necessary.

The younger members will be entertained at dinner at their house in Washington where Robbins has been Chief of the Protocol Division, Dept. of State, of the children of Warren Delano Robbins. The parents and grandparents will have a housewarming at the new official home. You can be certain there will be no dullness at either party.

JAPAN

Americans specially informed in Japanese affairs see that Government in growing difficulties.

Deeply significant of a beginning reaction toward reason is Dr. Hitoshi Ashida's recent speech in the Diet in which he boldly questioned the military control of the nation's foreign policies. Only a few weeks ago such a speech would have made him liable to assassination. Today he is not threatened but is openly supported by liberal elements strong enough to be felt. Even though the military were able to force him to "explain" next day, he turned the tables and renewed the attack with his "explanation."

During the long drawn-out negotiations for a territorial non-aggression pact between Japan and Russia, Japan held as her price for agreement the recognition by Russia of Manchukuo as an independent state. Such recognition would have meant the loss forever of Russia's large stake in northern Manchuria which she is far from ready to give up for what Japan could offer. The conclusion of the Sino-Russian agreement, in which Manchuria is tacitly accepted as still a part of Russia, made recognition remote.

Intended as a slap on the wrist of Japan was the publication by Russia of the supposedly secret proceedings looking to the non-aggression pact. This came about when Russia concluded her agreement with China and so definitely aligned herself against Japan.

PROTECTION

A return slap at Russia was the Japanese "lifting of the official ban" on news that police had arrested during the year some 8,000 young Japanese alleged communists, 2,000 of them very recently.

Paul Mallon says that Mr. Roosevelt would never have been permitted to make that night speech on the street in Miami if he had been President.

Secret service men rule Presidents in matters like this. They are men artful in protecting occupants of the White House. Their experience dates back 30 years and more. Even the President can not order them away. Their duties are prescribed by law.

They are so careful in making arrangements that no such opportunity as was presented to the assassin Florida would be possible in Washington.

ANNUAL Y MEETING, ELECTION TONIGHT

Election of directors will be the principal item of business to come before the annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. which will be held this evening at 6 o'clock at the Y building.

An address by the Rev. Albert Kelly, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will be a feature of the program, which is promised to be short and full of interest, adjourning by 7:30 in time for other evening engagements.

Speeder Offers Unique Defense

Stanley L. Worley, 24, manager of a market at Bellflower, will have a unique excuse when he comes into Justice Kenneth Morrison's court the latter part of the month to answer to a speeding charge.

He was arrested on West Seventeenth street, late last night, by Ben Craig, California Highway patrol officer, who charged that Worley was speeding 55 miles per hour.

Worley told the officer he was rushing to Santa Ana to notify his employer that the market at Bellflower had been held up and robbed. He did not say who his employer was, or give any details of the holdup to the officer.

Mrs. Nick Gantus Injured In Crash

Mrs. Nick Gantus, 36, of 2008 North Ross street, was slightly injured yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding with her husband, collided with another car at Second and Lucy streets. She was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, given first aid treatment and then removed to her home.

The Gantus car collided with a machine operated by Mrs. Edna E. Haardt, of 922 East Fourth street, Santa Ana. H. L. Johnson, also a passenger in the Gantus machine, was not injured.

Hold Party At Golf Clubhouse

Further improvements are going on on the club grounds, these including rustic fencing and a parking space. Mixed foursomes are to be played Sunday and everyone is invited to attend.

PLAN FIGHT FOR TAX EQUALIZATION

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 23.—(UP)—Opening of the fight to equalize taxes of public utility companies on a par with levies on common property will feature the reconvening of the state legislature here February 28.

A joint meeting of the senate and assembly committees on revenue and taxation has been scheduled for the evening of February 28 to consider utility taxation measures introduced in both houses.

The bills, calling for increases in gross receipts taxes paid by telephone and telegraph and gas and electric companies, and decreases in certain railroad levies, are based on a recent report of the state tax research bureau.

Amateur Weather Prophets Err In February "Guess"

Amateur weather prophets, including Gin Chow, Chinese prophet, "took it on the chin" this month in making predictions for rain during February which so far have failed to materialize.

February was supposed to be a wet month, according to the customs of the amateur prophets, but not one drop of rain has fallen in Orange county this month, although the same month last year saw considerable precipitation.

At this same time last year, a total of 14.86 inches of rain had fallen in Santa Ana, while the total for the season this year is but 8.62 inches. The final storm last year was on April 27.

This season, the last rain storm inches fell in Santa Ana, was on January 30 when 1.29

C. A. this evening will offer discussion of several urgent questions, presented by members of the board of education and others.

Politically Speaking

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 23.—

The state grange announced that its recall movement against Governor Rolph had been "temporarily" halted because of the senate investigation.

Favorable comment is being aroused all over the state about the Riley tax reform program, according to reports from State Controller Ray L. Riley and Fred E. Stewart, director of the state tax research bureau.

The plan, Riley declared, which limits 50 per cent the share of governmental cost borne by real estate and sets up a low-rate gross income tax, also provides a limitation on governmental expenditures and will work to the end of economy in government, "which is what we are all striving for today."

Political Gossip

Governor Rolph's failure to name a supervisor in Alameda county is arousing plenty of criticism there. . . . But the governor insists many of his Oakland friends think it a good economy move. . . . U. S. Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Washington gossip says, will have the last word on all Northern California federal appointments by President Roosevelt.

Two divisions of the state government, markets and market enforcement, will be moved back to Sacramento from San Francisco July 1, according to Dudley Moulton, director of agriculture. California and Maryland are the only states that retire highway bonds from general fund revenue, declares Rolland A. Vandegrift, director of finance. . . . Which is another argument for his plan to divert $5,500,000 a biennium from gas tax revenues for that purpose in California.

W. S. Richey, 74, father-in-law of James Rolph III, is on the state payroll at Delhi Land Settlement colony. . . . He gets $225 a month as real estate agent.

"Thousands of big, shiny deputy sheriffs' badges worn by Californians would be taken away if a bill now in the legislature passes." Former Governor C. C. Young took a crack at Governor Rolph for failing to raise the taxes of public utilities. . . . Rolph replied that the tax research bureau had made no such recommendation. . . . Fred Stewart, director of the bureau, "corrected" the governor.

Stewart said the report "clearly implied the tax rate on utilities is too low." Tubbs, former state senator, is going to write a book. . . . It is going to show why the Republican party lost out because a lack of leadership. . . . Fifty-four thousand, nine hundred sixty-six dollars was the cost of the 27-day session of the state legislature just closed.

for LOVE or MONEY

CHAPTER XLVIII
The tall man turned sharply. "Miss Moran—that is to say, Mrs. Townsend! And Barry! Why, this is a piece of luck! I wonder how it happened!"

"We were here shopping," Mona explained. Then, feeling rather foolish, she asked, "You came on the Helena?"

"Yes. Let's go somewhere where we can talk," said Mr. Garretson, swinging a cane at a snail team the driver of which was affably waiting for the three to move before attempting to proceed. "I can never get used to these vehicles. Give me Fifth avenue and 42nd street any day!"

"They moved into the shadow of the postoffice."

"I came to see you, Mrs. Townsend," the lawyer went on, "but they told me at the steamship office I might leave the steamer here and chance finding a boat to carry me across to Holiday Island or that I could go to Port of Spain and charter a plane."

He smiled broadly. "I came ashore to inquire and here I find you!"

"We'll get your baggage," Barry announced hospitably, "and then run you over to Holiday in no time. We were just starting—had been waiting for the mail."

The luggage was on board the Helena and Barry said he would go for it. "Just give me your checks," he said. "Well then, if you haven't checks, your cabin key will do."

"Let's all go together," suggested Mona. Mr. Garretson seconded the remark.

"I thought you might like to have tea," Barry said, hesitating. "It's going to be dark soon. We'll have to shove off before long."

"Oh, tea can wait," agreed Mr. Garretson and Mona in the same breath. It was as though neither of them cared to be left in the company of the other just then.

"She doesn't want to be alone with me," the lawyer decided. "Maybe she thinks I interfere if she wants to marry that boy." "He knows Barry wants me to marry him," thought Mona, "and he's here to prevent it. Just let him try!" Suddenly she knew that all along she had been determined to marry Barry. She wanted to seize Barry's arm and tell him so, to kiss his cheek and end this foolish uncertainty forever. Let the sailors' home, the orphanage have the Townsend millions. What did she care? She and Barry could take care of themselves!

Instantly she knew what she had really known always but had refused to recognize—that she would marry Barry on his own terms.

Blindly she followed him to the jetty, clambered aboard the motor launch and seated herself while Barry adjusted the wheel. The launch glided, sputtering, out toward the Helena.

Mr. Garretson, across from Mona, smiled as the cooling breezes struck him. It was as though he, too, had a secret.

"He thinks he's here in time," the steward came running down the companionway with Mr. Garretson's bags. They stowed them beneath the launch seats. Waving the lawyer away, Barry tossed the boys a handful of silver. The Water Sprite backed away from the ladder and then, whirling made off for the between the two arms of the green shore.

"Are you near here?" Mr. Garretson asked.

"Not far. It's three hours by boat, 15 minutes or less by plane."

The boat sped onward silently. Before they reached the harbor at Holiday Mona's mind was made up.

Dinner was served on the veranda. Steve, leaning on a cane but in excellent spirits, came to join them. Dr. Allen was in the background. Lottie was at Steve's side.

Mona had barely time to bathe and dress. She did this, hurrying, but she had never looked more beautiful. She was going to marry Barry! She was going to defy Mr. Garretson, toss the fortune back where it had come from and brave all for love!

What did she care for money? Barry was right in insisting that he didn't want his uncle's wealth. They would have enough and more.

But as she went out on the veranda to sit before dinner her heart smote her. Mr. Garretson had come on business, that was certain. Could it concern the Empress? Possibly he meant to ask her about her intended sale of the diamond. Perhaps, as executor of the estate, he would forbid it.

"It doesn't matter!" she told herself. "I'll marry Barry in spite of everything and everyone!"

She wished Lottie were not quite so engrossed in Steve. Lottie's good-natured chatter would have been a comfort. Mr. Garretson, in fresh livery, praised the dinner—the deliciously seasoned vegetables, the steak brought from Granada. He raised his coffee cup, remarking on the delicacy of the fine china. The fruit centerpiece, so carefully arranged by Miss Gracie, pleased him too. It would have pleased anyone who took a fruit centerpiece meant the inevitable oranges, bananas and apples. Here were nectarines, grapes and yellow-jade oranges, gleaming against a dark green bowl.

"You have fishing here?" "Lots of it. In the bay half-way around the island. We'll take you tomorrow if you like."

The maids cleared the table. Mona rose, followed by the others, and walked out on the terrace where the deck chairs commanded a view of the stars.

"Those must be the port lights of the S. S. Helena," Mr. Garretson said, pointing to the chain of lights along the horizon.

"She's due at Barbadoes in the morning," responded Barry. Presently he rose to go for tobacco. Mr. Garretson said that he preferred Turkish cigarettes when he could get them and Barry remembered they had brought a supply.

Goldfish Bowl FROM NOWHERE

ILLUSION: With one pass of the silk kerchief and a murmuring of mysterious words, the magician materializes a goldfish bowl—and live, swimming goldfish—apparently from nowhere!

EXPLANATION: Goldfish bowl with rubber top is hidden in magician's robe. He distracts your attention with silk kerchief and pulls out bowl.

IT'S FUN TO BE FOOLED ... IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW!

Another illusion is called "Magic Methods Make Our Cigarettes Best For Your Throat."

EXPLANATION: A cigarette has to use choice, ripe tobaccos to be easy on your throat. Cheap, raw tobaccos are harsh and irritating. No "treatment" can do more than mask their rasping effect.

And there is an irritating dust, naturally present to some degree in all tobaccos. Camel removes this peppery dust by a special vacuum cleaning process. Even more important is Camel's matchless blending and more costly tobaccos. It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, more expensive tobaccos than any other popular brand. Choice tobaccos tell the best story of throat-ease!

NEW TRUSTEE ELECTED FOR SPANISH VETS

Senior Vice Commander Major Alfred F. Moulton presided at the last meeting of the California United Spanish War Veterans, on account of the unavoidable absence of Commander Sherman Glase. Following roll call it was announced that it was the fourth consecutive meeting at which all the officers were present or whose attendance had been excused previously.

A new trustee was elected to fill the unexpired term of Trustee J. C. Farrar, deceased, in the person of Hannigan Moberly who was finally elected by acclamation after three candidates had been placed in nomination. Those nominated were Quartermaster John Markwalder, Moberly and Q. M. Sergeant Adolph Erickson.

Charles H. Lewis, a visiting member of the Spanish War Veterans from Montana, was present and spoke about conditions and veteran affairs in his home state where he said the thermometer ranged from 40 to 60 below zero in the winter.

There was considerable discussion concerning the efforts of the National Economy League and allied organizations to eliminate pensions.

The Spanish War pensions are now at their peak and from now on there will be a lessened pension roll to those pensioners, it was pointed out.

FAMILY GATHERING

TALBERT, Feb. 22.—Observing the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Robert Giesler, a family gathering took place recently at the home of her eldest daughter, Mrs. Bernard Stoffie, at Anaheim.

LABOR TO HAVE LOUDER VOICE IN NEXT CONGRESS; EXPECT PASSAGE OF PET MEASURES

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Legislation endorsed by organized labor, embracing most of the more popular progressive measures as well as proposals of especial interest to wage earners, is likely to take a decided spurt in the next Congress.

These predictions may be made partially on the theory that President-elect Roosevelt will be more likely to aid than to obstruct progressive and labor legislation, but more especially because for at least 20 years no congress has been elected which professes so much sympathy with the masses of workers as does the seventy-third.

At least 11 of the 16 new senators in that congress had strong backing from organized labor in the campaign and a glance at the other five indicates that three or four of them will be sympathetic. Dozens of senators and congressmen whom labor considered inimical were defeated.

This means that certain measures heretofore controversial or neglected are going to be passed and that others, not long ago considered "radical" or impossible of passage, will be brought up for a hearing. It also means that labor will have a larger voice in attacks on other problems in which it considers its interests involved, such as economy and railroad legislation.

The last session's only major labor victory was the anti-injunction law.

It seems certain that congress will demonstrate a more sympathetic and aggressive attitude toward unemployment relief—relief of distress, relief of unemployment itself and for machinery designed to reduce unemployment in the future.

Last winter labor backed the La Follette-Costigan, $375,000,000 direct federal relief bill, which would have undoubtedly passed the senate had it been the senate we will have after March 4. It will be demanding relief in larger sums this winter and, if it doesn't consider the short session's legislation adequate, in the special session Roosevelt is expected to call next spring.

The five-day week in government service has been promised by the Democratic platform and that, along with the shorter work day is a cardinal point in labor's program.

The American Federation of Labor's executive council reports that the present amount of work available would not provide willing workers with more than 30 hours of employment a week, while the five-day 40-hour week and the six-hour day 36-hour week represent standards applicable to normal times at present.

Shorter working schedules for government employees is urged for their effect as an example and the Interstate Commerce Commission, by congressional resolution, has been investigating the proposal of a six-hour day for railroad workers.

Any attempts, in the course of a government reorganization program, to tinker with the Department of Labor will be closely scrutinized and in most cases bitterly opposed by organized labor.

Old age pensions, state administered with federal aid, is another issue expected to receive greater attention when the friends of labor present their new congressional strength.

The A. F. of L. will also be found supporting the attempt to modify the Volstead act, in this congress, and, if necessary, in the next.

And in all congressional struggles over economy, organized labor will attempt to protect the interests of the federal employees, who it believes have been made the goats to an unfair extent in economy legislation to date.

Winner Of School Contest Decided

BREA, Feb. 23.—The popularity contest of the Brea-Olinda Union High school student body has ended, with Miss Jean Branson, senior, declared the winner. The annual co-ed dance was given, with Miss Branson reigning as the queen, her attendants being the other three contestants, Eleanor Senn, junior; Jessie Anderson, sophomore, and Dale Neuls, freshman. Music was furnished by Jack Stewart's orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Neuls were special guests at the dance.

STRAWBERRIES FOR BREA UNEMPLOYED

BREA, Feb. 23.—Somewhat in advance of the season, members of the Brea-Olinda Unemployed association are assured of all the strawberries they can eat when the season arrives.

George Homes, field manager, sent 10 men for five days each to assist a local strawberry grower in cleaning his field and in return they were given a quantity of sweet potatoes and beans and the promise of the berries. Homes reported the company garden coming along fine when the association met Tuesday night. He also reported that the Webster Baking company had advised against operating the Orange county baking unit and for the present the baking will be done in Los Angeles, each member contributing his quota of Red Cross flour.

W. W. Hay, Lester Lemmon and Howard Robinson, all of the Union Oil company, were present and spoke briefly, commending the Brea association for the efficient manner in which the commissary has been conducted. While the impression has been that only about 100 needy families are being cared for through the Brea commissary, actually, according to officials, more than 300 families are receiving aid.

JUSTICE COURT CONSOLIDATION BEING PLANNED

MILITARY BALL FINANCIAL AND SOCIAL SUCCESS

California's judicial system is pointing toward the consolidation and enlargement of justice courts. This trend is revealed in a report of the judicial council of California, as well as in bills now before the state legislature. Consolidation of these courts, it is believed, would permit numerous economies as well as relieve the load on superior courts.

According to the judicial council report, the 11 justice courts in Orange county cost $11,700 last year.

"Enlargement and consolidation of counties, or the establishment of judicial districts, is being suggested by some who would reduce the taxpayers' burdens in California," the report pointed out.

"Argument also is being advanced that a more efficient administration of justice can be brought about, particularly in the smaller and sparsely populated counties, by the selection of one well qualified justice of the peace with increased jurisdiction, to be given full responsibility for the various township courts, having his headquarters at the county seat and going about the county as required."

FIELD MEETINGS FOR POULTRYMEN FRIDAY

Two field meetings are scheduled for tomorrow on poultry brooding under the auspices of the agricultural extension service. The time and location of the meetings are as follows:

10 a. m., February 24—Schludmeyer Bros. ranch, two miles north of Orange on state highway.

2 p. m., February 24—J. J. McInnis ranch, Hansen station, one-quarter mile west of Hansen road and Ball road.

Subjects to be discussed will include the poultry outlook for this year and chick brooding. Investigational work has indicated that certain forms of paralysis and pullet losses have been due to nutritional deficiencies in the early growth, according to Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg. How to avoid this deficiency which is manifested in later losses will be pointed out.

Rabbit Production Costs And Walnut Grove Care On Air

The schedule of daily radio talks given on agricultural and allied subjects, under the auspices of the agricultural extension service and station KFI, is announced as follows by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg for the week beginning February 27. The talks are presented at 12 o'clock noon each day.

February 27, "Spring Plans for the Walnut Orchard," M. H. Kimball, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

February 28, "Progress in Agricultural Extension," by agricultural extension service.

March 1, "How Rabbit Producers Can Lower Production Costs," J. L. Miller, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

March 2, "Fire Prevention is Tax Reduction," C. J. Thrapp, Los Angeles county fire warden's office.

March 3, "The National Orange Show," A. E. Bittel, agricultural commissioner, Riverside county.

March 4, "Seasonal Hints for Citrus Growers," W. H. Williams, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

GREAT-GRANDSON OF DESIGNER OF FAMOUS OLD NAVY SHIP IS RESIDENT OF COSTA MESA

Greater interest than ordinary is felt in the visit of the U. S. Frigate Constitution, popularly known as "Old Ironsides," to Los Angeles harbor by a resident of Orange county and his brother, a Pasadena man, for they are descendants of the designer of the famous old ship.

The plans for the frigate, which was noted for its swiftness and unusually fine response to sea-manship, and which was regarded as having qualities making it more maneuverable than most ships of its time, were drawn by Josiah Fox, whose great-grandson, E. C. Pickering, lives on Victoria street in Costa Mesa. Pickering's brother, Joseph H. Pickering, lives at 1125 Meridian avenue, Pasadena.

Their Great-grandfather also supervised construction of the historic fighting frigate which was launched from the Harris shipyard in Boston in 1797. It is learned, the designer of the ship came from the United States from England when a young man and made ship-building his life work.

The thrilling stories of the brilliant record of "Old Ironsides," which fought 42 engagements, with never a defeat, is to the Pickering family, more than "book" history, for they regard it as part of their family history, of which they are quite proud.

The Costa Mesa man plans to be on hand to welcome the Constitution when it arrives at Long Beach on March 19 from San Pedro, where it is now stationed at berth 57, outer harbor.

TOASTMASTERS CHOOSE BROCK AS PRESIDENT

Anson A. Brock will pilot the Santa Ana Toastmasters club in its affairs for the next six months, as the result of election of officers held by the club at its meeting last night. He will be assisted by C. J. Ruley, vice president, D. H. Tibbels, secretary-treasurer, and Dwight Hamilton, sergeant-at-arms.

A. G. Green has been president, and E. L. Russell vice president, during the six months' terms just ended.

In addition to electing officers, the club last night selected its representative to appear in the state oratorical contest to be held in Pasadena on March 25, conducted by Toastmasters International. The four speakers who placed in the preliminary contest held at the high school last week were heard by the club. Harold Woodward, speaking on "A Solution," was given first place. The other speakers were Walter Krings, Claude Owens and Pearl Bachman. The speeches were of such high quality as to make the task of the judges a difficult one, and the gradings were very close. It is reported.

Woodward will have the honor of competing for the Santa Ana High school and Toastmasters club, in an effort to hold the trophy for the local school for another year. John McFarland won the state contest last year, and brought the cup to its present place in the high school trophy case.

STAR PUPIL

Though he has a bullet imbedded in the very center of his brain, Roger Egan, 12, of Pittsburgh, is an honor pupil in Forbes School. Eight years ago a stray bullet from a battle between police and thieves pierced his forehead. For three months he lay partly paralyzed, then his strength returned. As an operation to remove the bullet was thought perilous, it was left in the brain. Returning to school, Roger has just earned his first promotion with high honors.

PLAN TALK BY COMMANDER OF FAMOUS SHIP

An attempt to persuade Louis J. Gulliver, commander of the U. S. frigate Constitution, known as "Old Ironsides," to come to Santa Ana in the near future to address a large public meeting is being made today by a committee of Orange county citizens which is at Long Beach making arrangements for trips of local groups to the famous ship.

Plans are under consideration to have the naval officer address a joint meeting of all service clubs of the city in a public meeting at the high school auditorium. The subject of the address would probably be the history of the "fighting frigate."

Members of the committee which is contacting the commander of the ship are: George Raymer, Santa Ana; Harry May, Fullerton; George Reid, Anaheim; V. D. Johnson, Orange; Mrs. May Jackson, Huntington Beach.

Representatives of the committee are in Long Beach this afternoon on this mission and are discussing with a general committee including Long Beach citizens, plans for excursions of school children and others from Orange county to visit the Constitution when it comes to Long Beach on March 19 for a 10 day stay. It is now at San Pedro.

Harold Yost Leads In Insurance Sales

Harold Yost, district manager for the Minnesota Mutual Life Insurance company, of St. Paul, was notified today that he won first place for January in Southern California for the largest amount of insurance premiums paid in to the company he represents here.

Yost, who has been specializing in income bonds and immediate and deferred annuities, says he has noticed a decided improvement in business in Orange county particularly in Santa Ana and Anaheim. "Quite a considerable increase has been noticed in the number of persons desirous of taking advantage of the safety and security offered by the life insurance companies under their annuity plans," he said.

D. A. V. CHAPTER ACHIEVES BRILLIANT SUCCESS IN BALL

From his frame hung high on the wall above the dancers, George Washington, Father of His Country, smiled benignly down upon his people gathered last night in an assemblage such as he loved—a levee as he might have termed it, or a rout—when men of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of such a war as Washington never dreamed, were hosts at their fifth annual Military ball, chief event in Santa Ana's social life of the late winter.

For five years past the D. A. V. Jack Fisher, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, Military ball has attained a success in terms of money and in terms of pleasure. It has been held in various places, St. Ann's Inn in the days when that hostelry flourished as the county's social center; Orange Legion hall, and Santa Ana Masonic temple. But never has it been given a more appropriate setting than this year, when it was staged in Valencia ballroom, on the Santa Ana-Anaheim boulevard.

Pleasing Features
The ample floor space for dancing, ventilation, and comfortable loges where guests might seek seats during the brief entertainment, were excellent features while the decorating committee, headed by Mrs. H. H. Reeves, had converted it from a public ballroom into a scene of arresting beauty. Lights were wreathed with small flags. These sprang up also among the palms lining the walls, while at one end of the long dance floor, flanking the picture of George Washington, were massed the colors and banners of the different patriotic organizations of the county. Practically every military group expressed interest in the ball by sending its colors for this feature, and the effect was one of heart-stirring beauty.

Patriotism Stirred
Accenting the patriotic note was the entry to the ballroom, where guests found a guard of honor in members of Company 1, 15th Infantry, with Lieutenant Robert P. Kellogg in command. Continuing this was the presence of the drum corps of American Legion Post 131, which like Company 1, followed the precedent established in previous years by being present to open the ball.

Without doubt this formal opening is the most impressive feature of each year's function, and such was the case last night, as the drum corps, with Edward Connor, drum major, climaxed its maneuvers and martial music, by massing near the orchestra platform, to play for the intricate figures of the grand march.

Grand March
It was a tribute paid to the memory of the late Jack Fisher, that dedicated the choice of his mother, Mrs. J. A. Fisher, and one of his best friends, Colonel Nelson M. Holderman, guest of honor, to lead the grand march. Immediately behind them were other special guests, the men in uniforms and the women in formal evening attire. As the march progressed, others joined in until the floor was glittering with color, medals and decorations. As a final figure, the marchers swept down the ballroom in abreast, and then at the retirement of the drum corps, with a final fanfare of martial music, and the opening of the orchestra strains, broke up into dancing couples. Dance music itself was the best of its kind, Everett Hoagland's orchestra winning the praise of everyone.

Prior to the dancing, arriving guests had been welcomed by a receiving line composed of veterans and members of the Citizens' committee. With Major Earl B. Hawks, post commander, was Mrs. Hawks, while other women in the group included Mrs. H. H. Reeves, Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Mrs.

cameo-pink; Mrs. Emerson Marks in black and Mrs. Harry Pickard in delicate pink.

Some of the loveliest gowns of the evening were expressive of the patriotic theme, for there were flaming red, blues ranging from soft Alice tint to deeper tones, and shimmering white costumes as well. Mrs. Leland Finley wore all white with rhinestone girdle and a clever little evening hat. Mrs. F. B. Miller chose an electric blue chiffon.

Miss Hattie Bell Wall was charming in a flowered orchid gown, with which she wore gardenias; Adeline Cochems Harrell wore vivid green; Miss Elizabeth Rowan was in a bouffant frock of soft tints; Miss Lydia Fisher was in black lace enhanced with a bow of soft blue velvet. Miss Nettie Jones wore a demure frock of ivory net over soft foundation. Miss Ruth Tantlinger was in black.

Mrs. Harry Zaiser chose rose tones in satin crepe; Mrs. Martha Anderson, state auxiliary commander, wore a pale blue satin with gardenias; Mrs. Irene Penney, senior vice commander, was in shell pink. Mrs. J. Riley Huber's sweeping satin gown was in pale seafoam green; Dr. Peryl Smith chose a tea-length crepe with brilliant; Mrs. Andrew Lykke was in white crepe with a corsage of scarlet camellias repeating the color of her slender slippers.

Mrs. Paul Ragan was in brocade and blue velvet, and a handsome brocade was chosen also by Mrs. T. A. Winblier. Mrs. Edward Struble wore a smart black net with blue ribbon bands. Mrs. Arthur H. Lyon was handsome in gold brocade and black, while Mrs. Joseph H. Daniger was strikingly attired in unrelieved black velvet. Another favoring black was Mrs. Minor Cox, whose lighter color being chosen by Mrs. Thomas L. Willette. In flowered chiffon; Miss Edith Cornell, vivid in flaming crepe de chine, and Miss Ruth Armstrong, favoring green.

Old Friends Reunited At Bridge Luncheon In Langley Home

The visit here among her old friends of Mrs. Clyde Jenken, of Los Angeles, formerly of Santa Ana, is of such short duration that it does not permit much display of hospitality in her honor, but Mrs. Roy Langley succeeded in working in a delightful luncheon and bridge in her home, 1331 Cypress avenue, as a compliment to Mrs. Jenken.

The little group of close friends assembled for the pleasant afternoon, found a spring-like charm given the Langley home, by the lavish use of sweet peas and stocks, especially charming arrangements of the flowers being used to center the several small tables where the luncheon menu was served. Such details as the pretty linens, crystal and silver of the service, and place cards later used for bridge tallies, heightened enjoyment in the appetizing menu served by Mrs. Langley with the assistance of Mrs. Charles Swanner and Mrs. Norbert Lentz.

Bridge in the afternoon, was especially successful for Mrs. Lentz to whom was awarded the prize, while a second prettily wrapped package contained a sheer handkerchief as guest prize for Mrs. Jenken.

Sharing the reunion with their hostess and her honoree were Miss Louise Tubbs, Miss Josephine Smith, sister of Mrs. Jenken, Mesdames Charles Swanner, Hubert B. Nail, Walter Hickey, A. H. Segerstrom, Cyrus H. Lurker, Norbert Lentz, Charles Bresler, Harry Spears and Lloyd H. Banks. Mrs. Jenken with her small son, Master Tommy Jenken, will be here in the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry A. Smith, 1218 South Sycamore street, only a day or two longer then will join Mr. Jenken in Beaumont. NOVEL CRIME FILM STARTS TODAY AT FOX BROADWAY

A murder, so carefully planned that even the police could not stop it although they would occur in advance that it would occur and a man who confessed the murder before it takes place—that is the story of "Crime of the Century" which comes today to the Fox Broadway theater to play for the remainder of the week.

Jean Hersholt, Stuart Erwin, Wynne Gibson and Frances Dee have the principal parts in this strange drama, which is a new departure from the usual crime stories, in that the audience is left to imagine or to solve the crime for itself. Every clue the police get is given the audience, the murder is seen and the reasons for it given, but was the man who confessed the crime actually the murderer?

Showing on the same program is a comedy, "My Operation" with Vince Barnett, a U. S. Coast Guard rescue picture, "Forgotten Island," and organique and a news reel.

Taxation has reduced the consumption of beer in Vienna from 3,550,000 gallons in May, 1931, to 2,484,000 gallons in the corresponding month of this year.

"CAVALCADE" OPENS TODAY AT WEST COAST

"Cavalcade," another milestone in motion picture progress, opens its road show engagement at the Fox West Coast theater today. It plays four times here, at 2:15 p. m. and at 8:15 today and twice tomorrow.

Advance ticket sale for the production has been most encouraging, indicating that in spite of the depression, when a truly big production comes to town, there are plenty who demand to see it.

"Cavalcade" is Noel Coward's most spectacular play. It has swept the country with its beauty as well as its thrilling episodes of three decades. For pictures purchased the screen rights soon after its initial appearance on the stage and it was in the making for more than a year.

Diana Wynyard, English screen actress, scores a tremendous hit in her first picture in this country and since has been in constant demand.

Women are not allowed to be employed as barmaids or as waitresses in place where alcoholic liquor is sold in Egypt.

BOOK REVIEWS FOR MEMBERS CLUB SECTION

ORANGE, Feb. 23.—When members of the Book Review section of the Orange Women's club met yesterday in the clubhouse lobby, they heard an interesting resume of books of today and yesterday given by Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, president of the section and city librarian.

A general discussion of books read by members of the group was held before Mrs. Faulkner gave an informal talk. Books read by members during the past month in which particular interest was shown were Arnold Bennett's "Journal," Willa Cather's "Obscure Destinies," Gertrude Atherton's autobiography, "Earth's Horizon" by Austin, "Adventure" of a Tropical Tramp," by Foster, and "Roper's Row" by Deering.

Mrs. Faulkner gave a survey of "Sardinian Sideshow," by Posse-Brazdova. It is the story of a family marooned in Sardinia during the World war and gives many sidelights and intimate details of that period. "English Summer," by Cornelia Stratton Parker, is a story of a family tour by bicycle and motor through England written in a delightful vein. Mrs. Faulkner said:

"The Pageant," a tale of the colonization of parts of Australia by convicts sent out from England—tells of convicts who formed themselves into law-abiding groups and who feared the outlaws," said the speaker. Pioneer days of the middle west are told in the stories embodied in "Golden Tales of Pioneer States," compiled by May Becker. This is a collection of stories of the settings of which are all laid in the middle west.

Mrs. Faulkner told of popular fiction and non-fiction books of several years past. The most popular books for each year from 1919 to 1932, she named in con-

GREATNESS OF NATION'S FIRST LEADER CITED

ORANGE, Feb. 23.—Gordon X. Richmond was the speaker when members of the 26-30 club met at the Sunshine cafe on North Glassell street last night. Walter Wacker, president, presided and it was decided to hold several future meetings at the same cafe.

In speaking of Washington, Richmond said, "Time has not dimmed the luster of his name, nor has it obscured the principles which were so deeply embedded in his character."

"The moral stability of Washington's character as proven by his life and letters leaves one almost bewildered in attempting to describe the chief characteristics of his greatness as a man. I am reminded that our present economic depression is another Valley Forge that gives the American people an opportunity to test their fortitude in the face of privation and uncertainty."

"It gives them an opportunity to demonstrate the manner in which they have guarded their heritage from Washington and have followed the personal example of their first great leader."

THE FAMOUS

MULTI-COLORED, FOLDING, CLOTH KITE

California's Bright Colored Beach Kite, that is sweeping America on Quality, Flying Satisfaction and Sturdy Construction.

Made of broadcloth in any three colors, with hardwood ribs, no wonder it is almost indestructible.

Note the triumph of the Aeroplane Pitch, that permits the lightest air currents to take it up. "Up like the rocket, and down like the dew." This shape is achieved by a mechanical bend of that patented clasp.

The folding principle, a revolution in kite construction, enables the kite to be assembled in ten seconds; and does away with the glue pot.

When out of use, the kite is neatly folded like an umbrella, and is carried to and from the field folded, its cover being its tail, providing "golf-bag" care.

The cloth is sewed to the hardwood ribs, so that the strongest wind cannot tear it. "No more unhappy landings." With care, this kite will last many years.

This "last word in a kite" is as far ahead of the old-fashioned trail paper kite, as the automobile is ahead of the horse and buggy.

You can't buy it, if you were the wealthiest boy in town; you don't want somebody to give it to you, but you will appreciate EARNING it, by just a few minutes work in securing the subscription. Are you going to be the first boy in your block to reel the tug of power, and possess the pride of ownership, of this new and novel patented, colorful kite? Get busy right now on that subscription!

This perfect flyer comes in three colors to the kite. Your kite may be red, white and blue; the boy next door may have his of yellow, tan and green; while on the flying field, you will see others of pink, maroon and blue, etc.

And what a beautiful clash of color in the sky, over a flying field, each boy proud of his own colors. No wonder someone said at one of the smart beach resorts where the kite winds blow all summer—

"Look, Even the Seagulls are Jealous!"

This Patented Kite is not offered for sale in Stores, and if it were the price would be a luxury that not every boy could afford. BUT YOU CAN HAVE THIS REMARKABLE KITE, without paying a penny, by just getting One new 2-months subscription to The Register from your friends or relatives.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The cricket said, "Well, Tinymites, I've heard you like to see new sights. I guess you've been most everywhere, except to Big Bug Land."

"I'm glad that you have come to see the big bugs here. Just come with me. I'll show you where to go and you will think this place is grand."

"That's fine," said Scouty, "but right now, we'd like to have you tell us how all of the bugs got bigger than the ones we've seen before."

"Why, you seem twice as tall as me, and you look funny as can be. If other bugs are just as big, a real treat is in store."

"When you came here, you had to pass right through our magnifying glass," replied the friendly cricket cop. "That's where the secret lies."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

A bird's life at best is a crummy existence.

"I'll call her down to meet you all. She'll come, because she knows my call." Then, when the cricket yelled, the Lady Bug came floating down.

News Of Orange County Communities

CLUB TOLD OF MEDICAL CARE FOR CHILDREN

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 23.—Accomplishments of the Orange County Crippled Children's Relief association and the danger that the work may be hindered by legislation were revealed to members of the Newport Harbor Service club at the weekly luncheon at the American Legion clubhouse yesterday. Speakers were Earl S. Morrow, president of the association; Ray Adkinson, superintendent of schools of Orange county, and Miss Reva Hawkins, school teacher, who also entertained at the piano.

Morrow said that the association was organized by Harry Riley, of Anaheim, in 1921 to care for crippled and diseased children of the county who might not otherwise have such surgical and medical care, and that it has the approval of service clubs and others, notably the Anaheim Lions club. He praised the Shriners and Elks, particularly, for their aid in numerous cases.

The number of "active cases" in the county averages about 45, and Morrow told of some remarkable instances of surgery, physiotherapy, and muscle training which had restored children to normalcy in some cases and resulted in great improvement in nearly all.

Adkinson told how some of the money for this purpose was obtained, some coming from the school emergency fund, as the children are taught as well as cared for medically, and some from the supervising fund. If these funds, or part of them, are only maintained, the work can go on, he said.

L. Dee Miller, engineer of the Accident Industrial commission of the state, who is here inspecting passenger boats which now come under state supervision, spoke briefly of his work.

RESIDENTS OF NEWPORT AREA TO VISIT SHIP

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 23.—Special efforts are to be made to afford every resident of the Newport harbor district an opportunity to visit the U. S. S. Constitution, famous as Old Ironsides, when it will be at Long Beach harbor March 10 to 20, inclusive, it was revealed yesterday at the Washington birthday meeting of the Newport Harbor Service club.

H. H. Williamson and G. C. Macleod represented the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of chamber officials and others in Long Beach last week and reported yesterday on the arrangements being made for the public to see the famous old frigate, which is the Navy's most famous ship, despite the fact that it was built in Boston in 1797.

Macleod said that negotiations are being carried on with the Pacific Electric railway to either put in effect a special return fare on regular trains between this city and Huntington Beach and Long Beach during the Constitution's visit or to run at least one special train, which would eliminate a change of trains at East Long Beach.

Williamson, who is a former Navy officer, said that he had invited Lieut.-Commander Henry Hartley to address the service club here March 15, and President J. A. Sledge named Williamson and Macleod as a committee to secure a large attendance on that day and to invite members of other organizations to attend.
